

AUTOMOBILE REPLACES HORSE
IN NEWPORT COLONY'S FAVOR

Driving Hour, Once an Institution at the Social Summer Capital, Now Only a Memory—Smart Equipages Give Place to Glistening Motor Cars

Miss Susan Fish Dresser.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 10.—As each summer rolls around it is to be noted that still further the automobile is taking the place of the horse as a means of motive power for the members of the summer colony here. There are today more automobiles in the colony here than ever before, although there are some families who maintain their great and exclusive love for the horse. Memories of the driving hour in Newport each afternoon are still fresh in the minds of many, but there is no driving hour now. It has passed. There are a few carriages to be seen on Bellevue avenue, but to one carriage there are a half hundred automobiles to be counted.

One place where the decrease of the horse can be most noted is at the Wickford line boat landing, the route that a great many of the summer visitors take. A short time ago at the popular evening trip of the boat there was a long line of automobiles waiting and just two horses, other than those of the public cabbies, and even some of these are doing away with their horses and buying automobiles. While they may own automobiles, Mrs. Burke Roche, Mrs. James P. Ketchikan, Mr. and Mrs. J. Stewart Barney, Miss Martha C. Codman, Mrs. French Vanderbilt, Mrs. John Nicholson Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. C. Taylor, Mrs. William Grosvenor, Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Fish Webster, Mrs. Rosa A. Grosvenor, Dr. and Mrs. Roderick Terry, Mrs. Harold Brown and a few others are still friends of the horse.

In the days when carriages were universally used here the colors of the vehicles were always subdued, running mostly to the darker colors, black, blues, and now and then a maroon. With the automobiles times have changed, and it would be hard to find a more gay and festive array of colors than are to be seen on some of the automobiles of the summer folk this year. It is even more noticeable this summer than ever.

The machines are in light blue, yellow, red, of all shades, purple, orange, white and about every color imaginable, while some of the cottagers have taken two or more colors and combined them into very pretty and attractive contrasts.

The past week has seen another large number of additions to the cottage colony and they are still arriving every day, although the rush of arrivals has stopped for a time until the first of August.

Among the latest to take up their residence here are Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Parsons, Mrs. Herbert Shipman, Mrs. J. Lothrop Bradley, Mrs. M. K. Twombly and her daughter, Mrs. Charles S. Whitman, Howard Spencer Graham, Mr. and Mrs. William Payne Thompson, Mrs. Nelson Brown, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Post, Mrs. Newton Gulick, Mr. and Mrs. Mary Wickes, Mrs. Charles A. Childs, Mr. and Mrs. William K. Van der Bilt, Mrs. George T. Bliss, Mrs. Richard H. Townsend, Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Ward, Mrs. Barker Walsh, Henry P. Eldridge, Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt, Mr. and Mrs. Pauling Foadick, Mrs. John A. Logan and Mr. and Mrs. John A. Logan, Jr., Mrs. Clayton G. Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Frank K. Sturgis, Mrs. William J. and Mrs. Joseph E. Widener and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Frelinghuysen.

There are several other families who are soon expected at their villas and cottages. These include Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Astor, Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Cassatt, Robert W. Goelet, Mr. and Mrs. William Goadby Lowie, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Duke, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Van Beuren, Mr. and Mrs. F. Lothrop Ames, Mr. and Mrs. Woodbury Blair and Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Whitehouse.

James J. Van Allen, after a month passed in trying to depiete the Casapedia River in Canada of its salmon, is the guest of his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Laurens Van Allen, at Wakehurst, his own summer home.

Mrs. Arthur Scott Burden is expected to pass a part of the summer with her mother, Mrs. Burke Roche, at Elm Court, Mrs. Burden having recovered from her illness.

Another who is going to California is Mrs. Frederick W. Goodman, formerly Mrs. J. Mitchell Clark. The Rev. Frederick W. Goodman and Mrs. Goodman left here a short time ago and were planning at that time to start for the Pacific side of the country in about two weeks. Mrs. Clark, although she has been trying to sell the place, still owns Gray Craig, the estate in Middletown. There is no estate here that has more rustic or beautiful gardens; in fact the place is so large that it is practically a park, and even though it has not been occupied now in some time, the grounds of the place are still in excellent condition. Instead, they have been kept up and before leaving Mrs. Goodman announced that the grounds of Gray Craig would be open to the public.

Just at this time when the roses and poppies are in bloom it is a beautiful sight in the gardens, which are hidden by great rocks and trees. On one day there were over 100 automobiles counted as having passed through the gateway.

Bishop James H. Darlington and Mrs. Darlington of Harrisburg, who a couple of years ago purchased an estate here, are expected to leave for the Pacific this summer and they will not visit Newport. Instead they have rented their cottage, the Corners, to Mrs. Richard H. Weld of Boston.

Miss C. Orden Jones, who has been ill at her cottage, Mid Cliff, has recovered sufficiently to be able to take short rides. Another of the colony who is recovering from illness is Mrs. J. R. Busk, at Indian Spring.

The death of Edward C. Post early in the week was a source of regret to many in the summer colony, for this was the second death in the summer colony within a couple of weeks, the other being that of Justice John Clinton Gray. Mr. Post was well liked by all who knew him and the esteem in which he was held was shown by the large gathering of summer colonists in Emmanuel Church for the funeral.

The season of tennis tournaments will be begun at the Casino during the coming week. The first to be announced is a ladies' doubles, arranged by the Ladies Tennis Committee of the Casino, made up of Mrs. Barker Wolcott, Mrs. Lorillard Spencer, Jr., and Miss Maude K. Wetmore. They have several other tournaments in mind and as usual they will probably have some event on the schedule for every week of the season except during the week of the big invitation tournament in August.

There are two other events this coming week which are of interest to the colonists. Socially the lawn fête which is to be held at Roslyn, the summer home of Mrs. William Grosvenor, will take the lead. This is for the benefit of St. Mary's Orphanage of Providence, and one of the new features announced for it this week is a miniature dog show. At this Mrs. Frederic Neilson will exhibit white French bulldogs, Mrs. J. C. Mallory Pekinese, Mrs. Hamilton Fish Webster cockers, Miss Alice Brownell Irish setters, Mrs. Benjamin Weaver Boston bulls and Miss Mildred Rivers Highland terriers.

The other event will be the sweet pea show to be held in connection with the annual convention of the American Sweet Pea Association. The show is to be held under the auspices of the Garden Association and the Newport Horticultural Society.

ment, which will last until July 17. Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Miles of New York will have as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Marshall McLean, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Chapman, Miss Edna Wilkey, Miss Florence Brown, all of whom are expected to be at the cottage colony to a great extent as the cottage colony will have as her guest Miss Mollie Burdett.

Miss Lena Cummings of New York and her cousin, Miss Mary Lee Crockett of Nashville, Tenn., are guests of Miss Irene Peacock on Belle Island.

Mrs. Julia S. Burke of Jewell Island has with her Mr. and Mrs. Edward Joy and Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Crass of Syracuse. The latter part of the month Mrs. Lelan Ross and her two children of Morristown, N. J., will be with Mrs. Burke. Mrs. Ross is a daughter of Mrs. Burke.

Col. A. S. Gaston, U. S. A., and Mrs. Gaston of Washington, D. C., are at the Malvern under the direction of Mrs. M. Glandine Smith and Holton Herr, who is here by special arrangement with Miss Elizabeth Marbury, bid fair to interest the cottage colony to a great extent as the daily carol seats in the new cafeteria at the Swimming Club.

The programme at the Swimming Club promises to make the season a very lively one. In addition to a number of private affairs that will be given there the season's programme includes dances on Tuesday and Saturday evenings, moving picture shows on Wednesday and Friday nights and daily concerts with dancing during the midday bathing hours, from 11 to 1 o'clock.

There have been many informal affairs during the week at the Malvern, the De Gregoire and in the cottages, but the most interesting affairs were given at the Jordan Pond House at Seal Harbor, among those entertaining there being Mrs. John Jacob Astor, Mr. and Mrs. William Lawrence Greene, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Appleton Robbins, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred I. du Pont, who have also entertained aboard their yacht, Alicia.

Mrs. Newell Tilton gave one of the largest dinners of the week at the De Gregoire on Monday evening. At the cottage of her mother, the Hon. Mrs.
